DETAILED ACTIONDouble Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 5-13 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, and 36-41 of copending Application No. 10/609,967. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the present application claimed less than the copending application, for example, the difference between claim 6 of present application and claim 36 of the copending application is that the present application does not claimed "determining a thread to process the sample is available for assignment to the sample".

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Taylor et al (6,630,935 hereinafter "Taylor") in view of Rentschler et al (5,969,726 hereinafter "Rentschler").

Taylor teaches a graphics processor (title) for multithreaded execution (Figs. 1-4 and col. 9, line 11 and col. 10, lines 20-21) of program instructions associated with threads to process at least two sample types (vertex, primitive, and pixel, col. 5, lines 10-23; col. 6, lines 1-15; col. 26, lines 3-64 and col. 28, lines 1-9) comprising a thread control unit (Fig. 1, 18-24 and Fig. 4, 115-121 and 127-133) including a thread storage resource (Fig. 12 and col. 19, lines 7-59) configured to store thread state data (col. 6, lines 60-67) for each of the threads to process the at least two sample types. Taylor further teaches passing a priority check based on an allocation priority for the sample type prior to assigning the sample to the thread (Figs. 5 and 6). However, Taylor fails to explicitly teach or suggest "wherein a number of locations in the thread storage resource ... global state value". This is what Rentschler teaches (Fig. 4 and col. 13, line 30 to col. 14, line 47). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the present invention was made to combine the teachings of

Art Unit: 2676

Rentschler into the system of Taylor in order to efficiently process primitive data while avoiding providing the graphics processor with an excessive amount of data than necessary to render the primitives as taught by Rentschler (abstract). Therefore, at least claims 1-13 would have been obvious.
